BUSINESS SPOTLIGHTS

Two successful Thornbury based businesses have taken their relationship to the next level and moved in together! Thornbury Laser Clinic (TLC) and Thornbury Leg Vein Clinic (TLVC) are now sharing a beautiful new office space at The Blue Mountains Community Health Centre, in Thornbury. TLC founder Joni Fitzgerald explains, "This location is perfect for both our businesses because it offers our clients a private entrance as well as accessibility as there are no stairs to climb." TLC offers non-surgical treatments such as IPL, laser hair removal, botox, Juvederm fillers, and more. These treatments can improve the skin without social downtime. Whether your skin suffers from sun damage, rosacea, broken capillaries, scarring, stretch marks or cellulite, Joni's team can rejuvenate your skin and restore its natural beauty. Now open more hours, Thornbury Laser Clinic is a full-service facility complete with skin care lines, mineral makeup and pharmaceutical grade sunscreen and moisturizers.

Kathy de Langley R.N. has been dividing her time between the TLC and her own venture Thornbury Leg Vein Clinic, since she founded the business in 2014. Kathy has been registered with the College of Nurses of Ontario since 1986, and has been providing sclerotherapy and laser treatments for over 16 years. TLVC provides prescription and custom fitting of medical compression socks and stockings and performance compression, which can be covered under private health insurance programs and Kathy offers complementary assessment and consultation.

OWEN SOUND

Dave Shoots and partner Pat Hart recently purchased Owen Sound Hyundai from long time owner Doug Cameron. The new owners focus will be on increasing customer service. "We just want to be known for really looking after the customer," Dave said. "We'll make your purchase a great experience and follow it up by making servicing your car easy and enjoyable." In addition, the new owners expect to undertake a full renovation of the Hyundai building in the next three-to-five years. They plan to expand the existing dealership, add more service bays and introduce Hyundai's new colour branding. No matter what may change at Owen Sound Hyundai, two values from the Doug Cameron days will live on. "We will look after our employees and treat our customers really well," explained Dave, who has been in the car business since 1981 when he started as a salesman during his university days. He opened his own used car business a decade later in 91, and in 1997 established the Hyundai dealership in Brantford, which he still owns.

Despite his Brantford roots, Dave has always had a soft spot for the Georgian Bay area, being a boater and avid trout fisherman. He moved his family to Thornbury some five years ago. Managers Jeff and Diana Raymond will be the face of Owen Sound Hyundai. The husband and wife team will work together on management of the business. The owners and managers are already pleased with the progress of the business and look forward to building on the firm foundation established by Doug. "We're really excited about the Owen Sound area," Dave said. "The people are very friendly and good to deal with." Along with our customers, we're looking forward to having a lot of fun at Owen Sound Hyundai." Owen Sound Hyundai on The Sunset Strip | 519-371-3978 | Owensoundhyundai.com

Originally from Mississauga, Susan Smith was a stay at home mother for nearly 20 years while she raised her five children in the GTA. Growing up with a family cottage on Lake Eugenia, Susan longed for a simpler life for her active family. Everything changed the day her mother called and mentioned that one of their favourite cluster of stores in Markdale was for sale; Peek Thru My Window; Fancy That and County Line – three small and brightly coloured retail shops that previous owner Donna Fitzgerald had operated for more than 25 years. Susan quickly realized that this was a new venture worth looking into, and ultimately bought the business in July 2015 and moved her whole gang north.

Located on Highway 10 (AKA Toronto Street) in Markdale, this is a true one-stop-shopping destination. The three stores are a treasure trove of women's lifestyle apparel, activewear and gifts—conveniently all found under one roof, in three connecting stores—an absolute pleasure to stroll and explore. Carrying brands like Woolrich, Columbia, Tribal, Tommy Bahama, and NYDJ (Not Your Daughters Jeans), you'll enjoy this unique shopping experience, far and away from a traditional box store. Here you are sure to find the perfect outfit, accessories, gifts and home decor, while enjoying personable and friendly customer service that is second to none. TIP: Give yourself lots of time to peruse. Look for The County Line and fancy That in our Escarpment® Fashion pages.
